In response to your query about the switching of implementing agencies we are happy to inform an agreement has been reached between UNDP and UNEP on managing the Phase II and NAPA projects without duplication.

UNDP Headquarters in New York is asking its national offices to convene their EA I and II project teams and prepare one last workplan and budget revision with a strict 12-month timeline. This workplan will not be allowed to include the assessment of technology transfer needs for adaptation, as this is the one area in which there might be a potential overlap with the NAPA activities. As soon as we receive an acceptable revised budget and workplan consistent with a 12 month timeline to complete these activities, we will notify UNEP and their NAPA country team that we have no objections to their beginning implementation of the approved NAPA.

Based on the above I am now writing to GEF to approve the UNEP Uganda NAPA project so that we will be ready to start implementation of the project when UNDP notifies us.

Regards.
